DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

The restriction requirement is withdrawn.

Drawings

The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the tapering from the front edge to the rear edge and the components for the welding apparatus must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

A proposed drawing correction or corrected drawings are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) as being anticipated by Wilson (6,508,704). See figs. 5b, 6b and 7.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim(s) 5-10 and 21-23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over

Wilson et al. in view of Achtner. Wilson et al. discloses all of the limitations of the claim(s) except for the louver assembly being employed in a welding apparatus. Achtner discloses the presence of a welding apparatus employing a louver assembly. See 3, 5 and fig. 2. Hence, one skilled in the art would find it obvious to modify the system of Wilson et al. to include the louver assembly being employed in a welding apparatus of Achtner for the purpose of protecting internal components. Wilson et al. in view of Achtner discloses all of the limitations of the claim(s) except for the prevention of a probe of predetermined diameter from passing the rear edge of any one of the louvers. Steele (5,201,879) discloses the presence of prevention of a probe of predetermined diameter from passing the rear edge of any one of the louvers. See abstract. Hence, one skilled in the art would find it obvious to modify the system of Wilson et al. in view of Achtner to include a probe of predetermined diameter from passing the rear edge of any one of the louvers of Steele for the purpose of increased safety. Regarding claim 10, Wilson et al. in view of Achtner and in further view of Steele discloses all of the limitations of the claim except for the predetermined diameter of 2.5mm. However, since the applicant has failed to establish any criticality or synergistic results which are derived from the recited configurations, these limitations are considered a matter of obvious design choice. Thus, the applicant's design configurations would have been an obvious improvement to one of ordinary skill in the art with regard to the apparatus disclosed in Wilson et al. in view of Achtner and in further view of Steele.

Claim(s) 11, 12 and 14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Wilson et al. in view of Matsushima et al. (4,661,669). Wilson et al. discloses all of the limitations of the claim(s) except for the louvers being tapered from the front edge to the rear edge. Matsushima et al. discloses the presence of louvers being tapered from the front edge to the rear edge. See col. 8, lines 39-43. Hence, one skilled in the art would find it obvious to modify the system of Wilson et al. to include the louvers being tapered from the front edge to the rear edge of Matsushima et al. for the purpose of increase airflow control.

Claim(s) 13, 17-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Wilson et al. in view of Matsushima et al. and in further view of Achtner. Wilson et al. in view of Matsushima et al. discloses all of the limitations of the claim(s) except for incorporating the vent assembly into a welder. Achtner discloses the presence of incorporating the vent assembly into a welder. See fig. 2. Hence, one skilled in the art would find it obvious to modify the system of Wilson et al. in view of Matsushima et al. to include a incorporating the vent assembly into a welder of Achtner for the purpose of ventilating welding components.

Claim(s) 16 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable Wilson et al. in view of Matsushima et al. in view of Achtner and in further view of McCoy (3,662,670). Wilson et al. in view of Matsushima et al. in view of Achtner discloses all of the limitations of the claim(s) except for the set of louvers being connected to one another through a single center post. McCoy discloses the presence of a set of louvers being connected to one another through a single center post. See 10. Hence, one skilled in the art would find it obvious to modify the system of Wilson et al. in view of Matsushima et al. in view of Achtner to include a set of louvers being connected to one another through a single center post of McCoy for the purpose of reduction of parts.

Claim(s) 20 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Wilson et al. in view of Aichtner and in further view of McCoy. Refer to claim 16, above.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to the claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
